Eco friendly bamboo jars from CPL Packaging

CPL Packaging brings, from Asia, a natural and organic material for an environmentally friendly packaging solution. This material is resistant and can be molded into different shapes according to customers' needs. The client can also personalize these jars by engraving their logo on the top of the jar.

CPL's bamboo jars can be assembled with a plastic or glass inner jar and the containers can be reused. This means that the consumer could still remember your brand even when the product has run out.

Through CPL Packaging's extensive experience, they can also offer the jars with their client's own customized design.

In CPL's catalog you can find an extensive variety of plastic bottles and jars with more than a hundred products in different shapes, colors and materials all available with different closures and dispensers.
