HCT Packaging

HCT Packaging are designers and manufacturers of cosmetics packaging and turnkey solutions with an excellent track record and a global capability.

Their belief is that only by being ahead of the demands of the market and working closely with their clients can they continue to deliver success. 'Together we create legends', is the philosophy and the mission that has always driven their business, guided their actions. Through closely forged relationships with their clients and their suppliers, they orchestrate success.

Through their carefully evaluated, intuitive vision of the future they continue to be ahead of the game. This helps give them their hard won leadership position.

Today, HCT is a significant business with operations spanning the globe, from London to New York, Paris to Moscow, Milan to Los Angeles, Hong Kong to China, where they have just opened their first manufacturing facility. Further to this, they are pleased to announce the opening of their New York showroom, situated at Rockefeller Center in the heart of Manhattan.

Although their clients are the most famous and innovative brands in the world, they are always open to work with the success opportunities of the future.
